The exhibition was one of the chief features of the opening of the Holy Year.

Plans Considered For Filling In Of Marshlands

The filling in of 600 acres of marshlands at the mouth of San Pablo, is being considered by the F. F. Porter company of Oakland, according to announcement made yesterday Frank J. Woodward, vice president of the company.

It is planned to raise the lands from 1 to 3 feet for truck garden purposes, which has been declared feasible by engineers who has inspected the ground. Woodward development of these lands would cost approximately $200,000. The cost per acre would be around $350. However, the company has not come to any definite decision on the project as yet.

The lands were inspected Sunday by E. E. Grow, city building inspector and civil engineer; and by Porter.

Rossi Winery At Junction Raided

In a raid conducted by Cldye Laird, county prohibition officer, on the Rossi winery at Stege junction yesterday afternoon, 15 gallons of Jackass brandy and an assortment of other liquors was confiscated. A one-story private garage will be erected on the north side of Fifty-seventh street, between Highland and Bayview avenues by W. E. Bane, according to permit issued yesterday by E. E. Graw, building inspector. The cost will be $200.

Key System Bus Line Extended To Twenty-third

The route to be traversed by the Key Route system bus line, serving the new ferry system between Richmond and San Francisco, will be along Garrard boulevard from the ferry to Macdonald avenue and up Macdonald avenue to Twenty-third, where it will terminate for the time being, according to announcement made at the city council meeting last night.

It was also stated by a representative of the Key company, who was present, that transfers would be granted between the bus line and the street cars, carrying passengers from any point in Richmond served by the company to the ferry for six cents.

It was formerly planned to only conduct the bus service between the ferry and Standard avenue where Garrard boulevard connects with the street car line, and the change represents a three mile service instead of one mile.

Permission to so amend the route was granted by the city.

A request to the Richmond Union high school band to play tomorrow afternoon at the beginning of the two-day ferry opening celebration, was issued by the city council last night. "TAX PAYERS" PROTEST FENCE AT CITY WHARF

FENCE IS ORDERED BUILT

Pointing Out That the Wharf Is in Great Danger, City Goes Ahead With Plans

Injunction proceedings to stop the city council of Richmond from erecting a fence around the municipal wharf to protect the property from fire danger, caused by fishermen who smoke, was threatened at the city council meeting last night, when Commissioner Black told the council that he had been informed by a business man of the city that such an injunction would be sought, if the city proceeded with the fence.

City Attorney D. J. Hall informed the council that it was his opinion such an injunction could not be secured and that if it could be obtained it would not be effective.

The council voted to erect the fence and ordered the contract awarded to the Standard Fence company to furnish a wire fence 7 feet high, guaranteed against rust for a period of five years, at a cost of $639.

The fence will be erected at both ends of the municipal wharf with two large gates, 20 feet wide for vehicles and two small gates 5 feet wide for pedestrians. These gates will be kept closed but not locked and can be opened on permission from the harbor master. Other fences discussed were a wooden fence to cost $115 and a picket fence to cost $380, but these were rejected as unsightly.

James T. Narbett and J. Palse, appeared before the council as taxpayers to protest against erecting a fence to keep people off the city wharf. They contended that it was public property and that the people had the right to go there to fish. Narbett said that he often had visitors whom he wished to conduct about the wharf and he was told by Harbor Master Misner that he would always be welcomed; that any Richmond visitor would be welcomed and shown through the building and all questions would be answered.

Misner and City Manager McVittie and City Engineer Hoffman spoke in favor of the fence, declaring that no place around the bay is anyone allowed to fish on a dock, and stating that while the local wharf is public property, it is for business and not for pleasure. Lane favored erecting the fence because of the large amount of gasoline handled in the dock and Fire Chief Cooper said there was great danger even on the trestle from leaking gas tanks.

Misner stated it was his intention not to allow any fishing on the dock or trestle whatever, on account of the liability to the city in the event anyone was injured or killed or drowned. He said that 90 per cent of the people who fish there are outsiders who are denied the fishing privilege elsewhere. He also stated that bulk of the business at the wharf had been threatened to be removed if the fire precaution was not taken.

Narbett insisted upon the right of the people to use their property in any way they choose. The injunction suit is expected to be brought within a few days.

Report on Needs Of Schools to be Given by Helms To School Board

W. T. Helms, secretary of the high school board of education, was authorized at the meeting of the board last night in the Lincoln school, to make a report at the next meeting of the board with regard to the future developments of the Richmond school system. Helms is superintendent of the Richmond schools and is in a position to get at the necessary facts.

The authorization of the purchase of school supplies was signed by the board last night, and the appointment of Miss Marion Stockton, to teach in the commercial department of the high school was approved. Miss Stockton is a University of California graduate, and taught for a time at the Angels Camp school.

The use of a Spanish textbook, "Las de Cain," and a French textbook, "Paris Pittoresque," was approved by the board and will now be in use for the next four years.

All members of the board were present with the exception of E. M. Downer. W. D. Mason, president, presided.

Council May Ask Alternative Bids On Local Streets

City Attorney D. J. Hall announced yesterday that the proposed amendment to the street law, which will make it possible for a city to call for alternative bids on various kinds of street paving, instead of having to decide before hand on what kind shall be used as is now the case, will be ready some time next week.

The amendment will have to come before the state legislature, which, Hall says, will probably be at the first session. Hall in company with W. J. Locke, secretary of league of California municipalities, and Chas. M. Kirkbride, ex-president of the league, were appointed as a committee to get the amendment in shape to bring before the legislature.

CITY HALL BLAST BELIEVED MEANT FOR D. MATHESON

PLOT LEADERS BEING SOUGHT

Official Refuses to Order Round-up Until He Is Certain of Culprit

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Captain Duncan Matheson was the target for whom the bomb left near police headquarters at the Hall of Justice Sunday morning was intended.

This decision was reached by investigators yesterday, when it developed that Sunday was the first Sabbath in two years when the head of the detective bureau had not entered the building at exactly seven minutes after 10 o'clock.

Special significance is attached by the detectives to the fact that Matheson has taken an active part in the prosecution of radicals and anarchists and that he headed the group of policemen who gathered evidence in the Mooney trial.

Delay in the Kearney street car service Sunday morning kept Matheson from the Hall of Justice until 10:20 a. m. Instead of waiting for a car at Market street he walked, and arrived shortly after the explosion had wrecked the telephone booth in which it was planted and scattered debris over the main corridor.

There will be no general round-up of men known to have radical tendencies or of I. W. W. members, Matheson said. No arrests will be made until the police are sure of their ground.

RAILROAD TAXES INCREASE

Railway taxes, based on Interstate Commerce figures, show that the the railways for September made a new high record with taxes for the month totaling $33,586,622.

In the first nine months of 1916, railway taxes averaged $425,-271 a day. In corresponidng period for 1924, they were $929,262 a day, more than double 1916.

Increased efficiency and economy in roalway operation have caused reduction in expenses which have resulted in reduction in rates but, while railway operating expenses have been rduced almost 25 per cent in the last four years, railway taxes have increased as shown.

TAX-EXEMPT BOND COMMUNITIES DEAD

A dollar spent in building up a local industry—a factory, a specialized crop, a big utility—yaps more than a dollar invested in a tax-dodging public security. The industrial investment pays its interest, it builds up local payrolls and general prosperity, and it makes your dollar express your community confidence and pride. Too many communities register only as "It" because the people do not build personality and faith into their own outstanding industries.

FIRE DESTRUCTION AFFECTS EVERYONE

When a serious fire occurs, particularly if it involves a business structure, its ramifications are almost endless. Suppose, for example that an enterprise consistituting the major support of a whole town is wiped out by the flames and because of various reasons the plant is not rebuilt. Employes' wages are at once cuf off and it becomes impossible for them to find other work in that town. They must fall back on their savings accounts and money begins to flow out of the banks and from the treasuries of the building and loan societies. Cheaper living quarters must then be sought and the storekeepers begin to notice that their sales are falling off. The amusement business drops to almost nothing and church contributions decline. Soon there begins a general exodus to other cities where jobs are to be had. Families are uprooted, children taken out of school and in a few months the place is only a shadow of its former prosperous self. Every factory fire has a similar effect in a lesser degree.

Of course, insurance against fire and business interruption can prevent such disastrous consequences and is doing it every day, but insurance does not restore; it simply replaces destroyed buildings and commodities; property that has gone up in smoke is forever lost to society.

SALVAGE OLD ROADS

That salvaging old roads is rapidly gaining in public favor is evidenced by the number of engineering and technical articles that are being written on the subject showing the advantage of using well packed gravel and macadam highways as the base for an asphaltic concrete wearing surface.

At the recent meeting of road engineers and paving experts at Louisville, Kentucky, this subject was discussed extensively and resolutions were adopted urging those units of government which have charge of highway construction to conserve the salvage value of the country's large mileage of gravel and macadam roads by proper resurfacing.

The conference also urged as remedies for relieving the serious traffic conditions that are beginning to manifest themselves on trunk line highways, widening of pavements, elimination of grade crossings wherever possible, widening and super-elevation at curves, extension of the range of vision at road intersections, rigid licensing and control of motor vehicle traffic and a thorough system of high way policing.

Two most important matters were left out of these resolutions: First, that grading of highways should extend from fence to fence wherever possible, thus eliminating deep side ditches along the roads which are a prolific source of accidents and, second, that strict examination should be required before a driver's license is issued.

TAX REDUCTION POPULAR

The National Industrial Conference Board shows by a careful survey that there is nothing more unpopular than any proposition to increase federal, state and local taxes.

This statistical body shows that during 1921-23, inclusive, while state and local taxes increased nearly 15 per cent, federal taxes decreased more than 27 per cent.

While federal taxes were reduced $1,000,000,000 in three years,, states and political subdivisions have been borrowing and spending heavily.

In 1919 these subdivisions borrowed $691,000,000; in 1923, $1,063,000,000; during 1924, over $1,300,000,000.

Correspondingly, state and municipal subdivision taxes have increased from $2.950,000,000 in 1919 to $4,449,000,000 in 1923, and probably will exceed five billion dollars in 1924.

But the tide has turned and many states and localities have reduced their levies and are proposing further reductions.

The cost of education doubled between 1918 and 1923, costing $1,530,000,000 for public schools alone in 1922.

High taxation is every form, except possibly public schools and public roads, is on the toboggan slide.

WE speak of "natural colors" as if they were something entirely new under the sun, or at least as if the fad for wearing them were a real novelty. The fact seems to be that fashion has frequently turned with approval to fabrics and materials left in their own natural tone. Some years ago we wore "crash" linen, which was natural linen color, and there hasn't been a time for twenty years or more when natural colored pongee has not had its admirers. We used the color term "beige" blithely, without perhaps realizing that it is derived from the French "beige" the word for linen before it is either bleached or dyed. Interestingly enough, white, which seems like the absence of color, is not at all natural to any fabrics. Though we think of natural cotton as snowy white, unbleached cotton and muslin, as you know, are of a yellowish, brownish tone.

The dressmakers seem to have brought forward these so-called natural colors first. They are making suits, frocks, wraps and ensemble costumes of various woolen materials in the natural tones, and these are frequently trimmed with bright blue, green or red.

When the milliners followed suit they had the satisfaction of knowing that this fad would apply very well to their field, since felt, various straws and fabrics used in millinery posses such an interesting variety of natural tones. Natural colored felt hats, usually trimmed with a sharp bit of bright color, are already very smart, and when spring comes there will be leghorns, peanuts, bangkoks and the new Italian and Swiss body straws all left in their own characteristic natural color. A highly surfaced satin in the natural color is being used by many smart milliners for turbans and other small shapes.

There has been quite a fad among many smartly dressed women for midwinter hats of natural colored felt trimmed with brilliant artifical fuchsias or fuchsia colored ribbon. Sometimes the touch of color is achieved with Parma violets or a bit of bright red plumage, like the hat shown in the sketch. One of the natural tints, so-called, is called tea color, and not long ago I heard of a French frock colored "wet sand," which was considered very smart indeed. Meantime let's be prepared for all sorts of tints left the color nature made them in leather, and ostrich feathers as they are seen on the bird, furs of all sorts left "au natural." It may be that with all this we shall see a revival of faces and lips in the often neutral tints that nature has left them.

THE TASTE FOR ONIONS

THE taste for onions must be very deeply bred in the human palate, for of all vegetables the onion is undoubtedly one of the most anciently cultivated. One advantage that is undoubtedly has is that it can be kept in a crisp, green condition for an entire winter.

Seemingly latitude and longitude have something to do with the taste for onions—perhaps it is more a matter of race. At any rate Italians and other southern European seem to be able to relish onions, garlic, and other allied vegetables in far greater strength and quantity than we enjoy them.

Many persons have a very decided fondness for raw onions who will not eat them if they are going to be brought into close contact with other people very shortly afterwards. They feel a sense of guilt at being caught with onions on their breaths. Yet the onion and other similar vegetables are undobtedly one of the most wholesome types of food, and we might all be much better off if we ate as many of them as do the Italians.

ARE YOU THE ADVICE SEEKER?

We hear much about the people who like to give free advice. But are they really any more troublesome or tiresome than those other people who are always asking your advice—your advice and every one else's advice?

"I wish you'd tell me what to do about my daughter," one woman will say to you. "She doesn't seem to be getting on at school. Sometimes I think I'll have her psycho-analyzed." Then when you do give this mother a bit of advice she raises objections. She hadn't any intention of taking your advice anyway.

Some girls like nothing better than asking advice about their love affairs, though of course they do this for an excuse to dwell on the tender subject. There are women who are always asking advice about their clothes or the way they do their hair—but you listen to it, knowing full well that they don't intend to listen to your advie and wouldn't give it heed if they did.

WHERE IT STARTED

BANDANNA HANKERCHIEFS

The word "bandanna" comes from the Spanish "Bandano" a neck-cloth or neckerchief. When the West Indies were first colonized, the negroes used to dye their neck-cloths by tying knots in the material and dipping them into red dye, which formed fantastic patterns when the knots were untied. These "bandanos" became popular, and the name was Anglicised into "Bandanna."

One Wife on Approval

by VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "Luxury of Love," "The Husband Tamer," etc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

CYNTHIA LELAND'S husband, Jim, has gone to Honolulu shortly after their marriage, following a misunderstanding with his wife, and has taken his mother with him, leaving Cynthia to face the disapproval of her sister-in-law,

LOUELLA, and all her world. Cynthia turns to

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XXXVII—THE TOWN REALLY TALKS!

CYNTHIA could not sleep that night. It seemed incredible that her life could have taken such a turn. She was happier than she had ever been before when she thought of Noel and his love for her; a new contentment had come to her as she thought about Jim. She knew that she could be happy with him no matter how poor they were or under what conditions they lived.

VIOLET DARE

And yet, there was Jim. She had married him, supposing that she loved him. It was only after he neglected her for his mother that she was unhappy. She had tried to fan her love into its former flame even after he had gone off to Honolulu hardly bothering to write her. She could not help feeling even yet that if his family had not interfered they might have got along together.

"But that's about what we'd have done—got along," she told herself. "We'd have been like so many married couples. We'd never have known the wonderful happiness that Noel and I could know."

She did not know what to do. She must tell Jim of her love for Noel, of course. After that he would have to decide what was to happen.

But if Cynthia was bewildered, the women who had so often gossiped over her affairs were not. They all knew exactly what ought to be done—the fact that they did not agree did not make any of them less sure about their own decisions. Cynthia's love for Noel would be no news for them; many of them had been predicting that the two would fall in love with each other ever since their first meeting.

That afternoon at Louella's they talked so fast and furiously about Louella's pretty sister-in-law that the bridge game suffered and finally had to be abandoned.

"My dear, I always knew that she and Jim wouldn't get along," declared one young matron. "She just isn't Jim's kind. Much too gay." This last in a tone of disgust, despite the fact that the same matron had herself been characterized as "very wild" until increasing avoirdupois decreased her charms and forced her into domesticity. "I said that at the very first."

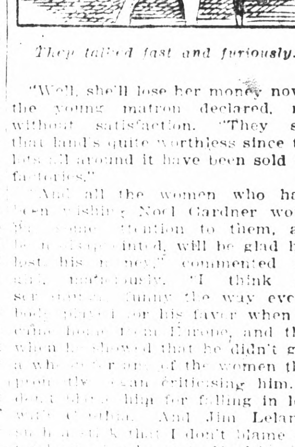

"Well, you know how it is when a girl just grows up, as they say she did, without any family. Brought up by various relatives, wasn't she?" contributed another.

"Yes. Not that that was her fault, of course! But she never appreciated Jim or his family, from the first she resented Madame Leland's efforts to break her in to the right way of doing things."

"And mother tried so hard," Louella put in. "Even went marketing with her—you remember? Why, we were all willing to do everything for Cynthia. You know how she was about not keeping engagements—said she forgot them! Day after day mother went to her house and saw to it that she was dressed and got to a bridge party or tea or whatever she was to go to. Cynthia'd go walking or just moon around with a book if she was left to herself. I never knew a bride who was so careless about the entertainments that were given for her!"

"And now this affair with Noel Gardner," put in the young matron again as Louella drifted away to another group. "I call it absolutely shameful. They say that she invested a lot of money in that subdivision of his; thought she'd make a lot more, I suppose. Or perhaps she did it because she was in love with him."

"She did it because Madame Leland had bought some stock in the sub-division while Jim was off on his honeymoon," exclaimed a girl who had taken no part in the conversation until then. "Madame Leland blamed Cynthia, somehow, because she'd bought the stock—just because Jim wasn't here to advise her. So Cynthia got Noel to buy it and then took it herself."

They talked fast and furiously.

"Well, she'll lose her money now," the young matron declared, not without satisfaction. "They say that land's quite worthless since the lots all around it have been sold for factories."

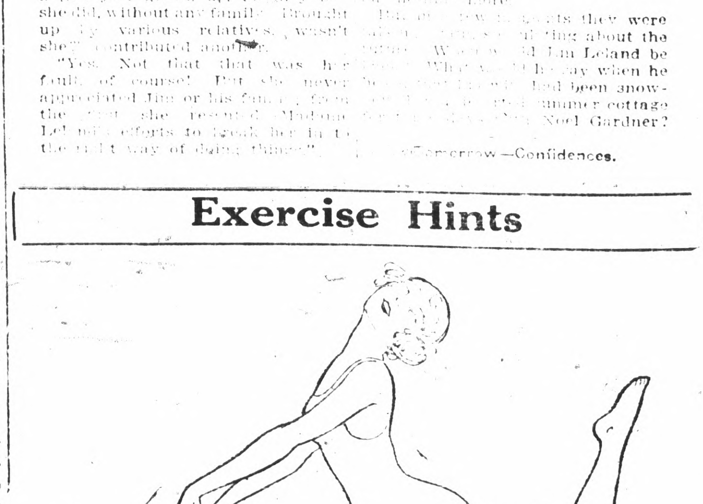

"And all the women who have been wishing Noel Gardner would pay some attention to them, and been disappointed, will be glad he's lost his money," commented the girl, maliciously. "I think it's scandalous. Funny the way everybody played for his favor when he came home from Europe, and then when he showed that he didn't give a whoop for any of the women they promptly began criticising him. I don't blame him for falling in love with Cynthia. And Jim Leland's such a stick that I don't blame her for losing her heart to Noel."

She sauntered away, leaving a group of embarrassed women behind her. More than one of them had hoped that Noel Gardner would attach himself to her when he first returned from abroad, and had been disappointed to find that he was willing to be polite and friendly, but nothing more.

But in a few moments they were [illegible] about the [illegible] What would Jim Leland be [illegible] What would he say when he [illegible] had been snow[illegible] summer cottage [illegible] Noel Gardner?

AUTOISTS TOLD HOW TO SECURE LICENSE PLATES

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—Special—So many conflicting statements have been circulated concerning procedure necessary to make application for 1925 automobile license renewal, Will H. Marsh, Chief of the Division of Motor Vehicles, today made the following official announcement:

Branches of the Division of Motor Vehicles located in Los Angeles, San Diego, Fresno, San Francisco and offices of the Automobile Club of Southern California, the California State Automobile Association and the Orange County Automobile Association will be permitted to accept applications from this date.

New license plates will be issued by the branches and clubs upon presentation of the certificates of ownership (the pink) and the certificate of registration, (the white.) They will also be issued upon presentation of legible certificates of ownership.

Auto Clubs Co-Operate

The automobile clubs will be permitted to accept certificates of registration for transmission to the division when it is found impossible to procure the certificate of ownership. Marsh advises, however, that every effort will be made by the clubs, according to agreement made with them today, to procure the pink certificate before accepting registration fee under the last named condition.

A receipt will then be issued the applicant. When proper verification has been made in Sacramento of the certificate of registration, it will be approved and returned to the clubs who will then issue plates.

Applying by Mail

Application may be made by mail through the Sacramento office.

Marsh urges all mail applicants to forward both the pink and the white certificates. By thus co-operating with the department, he said today, thousands of dollars will be saved in verifications and a more prompt service can be rendered the motoring public. Applications may be made by mail to the Sacramento office also on the white certificate, when it is impossible to obtain the pink. After verification, plates will be mailed applicant. This procedure, however will necessarily be slower than when both certificates are presented.

'Lonely Road' Good Entertainment at Richmond Theatre

One may sum up the merits of "The Lonely Road," Katherine MacDonald's latest First National attraction, which opened at the Richmond theatre last evening, by saying that it is remarkablely good entertainment.

Admirers of the fascinating Miss MacDonald need only to be told that she is more beautiful than ever in the role of "Betty," the young wife of a struggling business man. That she has been given as her leading man Orville Caldwell, whom Elinor Glyn has called "the most physically perfect man on the screen," and a strikingly original story, should make the satisfaction of the most fastidious picture patron complete.

B. P. Schulberg supplied all that remained to make the success of the picture certain when he named Victor Schertzinger as its director and selected a cast that leaves nothing to be desired. Every member of the company, from Miss MacDonald on down to the soulful-eyed little Stanley Goethals probably the most interesting child player on the screen—must have been named after the most careful consideration by director and producer.

This, the latest story by Charles Logue, relates the adventures of a youthful married couple who fail to find in one another the companionship for which they had yearned. Starting at the altar—where most stories end—it offers an intimate glimpse of an American home that every audience will quickly recognize.

Other features on the same program include Charles Chaplin in "His Prehistoric Past," a new edition Keystone comedy; 'Brains and Brawn' a Sportlight reel.

SWISS BAND, SLIDE TROMBONIST AND ALL, DOESN'T MISS A NOTE WHILE SKIING ON SLOPES OF THE ALPS

Wife Mistakes Her Husband for Lover at the California

"I love you, Ray," said the woman slowly, "but there is nothing we can do. Jim has never hurt me intentionally and I do not feel justified in obtaining a divorce. So it will have to be good-bye."

The man and woman had been sitting in a darkened room, and it was not until later that the woman learned that she had been talking to her husband, instead of the "friend of the family" who had been paying court to her clandestinely. A victim of neglect on the part of her husband, she had gradually fallen in love with the handsome outsider, and the episode in the dark brought on a startling denouncement.

This unusual situation is one of the dramatic highlights in "Husband and Lovers" a First National picture produced by Louis B. Mayer and directed by John M. Stahl, which will be screened for the last time tonight at the California theatre.

Lewis S. Stone is cast as the husband who has become too settled in his habits and did not share his wife's ideas of having a good time. Florence Vidor, as the wife who considered herself a "bird in a gilded cage," has a role ideally suited to her talents, and Lew Cody is the intruder in the family. Others in the cast are Dale Fuller, Winter Hall and Edith Yorke.

Other features on the same program include "Bull and Sand," a Mack Sennett comedy; "The Ant Lion," secret of Ant Life; "Local Laffs"; Larry F. Canelo at the organ.

A permit for the construction of a ... to cost $200 on Fifty-seventh street, between Highland and Bay View avenues, was issued yesterday to W. E. Pane.

PLAYS TAKING PLACE OF SHORT STORIES HERE

"We are now living in the age of the printed play—an age that is replete with a bewildering amount of play publication and production," states the librarian at the Richmond Public Library. "Present day plays are the medium through which the public is enabled to come into actual contract with present day dramatists, as well as affairs of the moment. Many authorities maintain that the one-act plays of today are slowly usurping the place once held by the popular short story."

Today, one is enabled to feel and understand the thoughts and interests of a nation through its dramas, as well as through its native literature.

Short plays especially, enable one to enter the gateways of romance, adventure, mystery, politics, humor and even the field fo domestic affairs.

The following list of recent plays is being offered by the public library this week, thus enabling readers to acquire a feeling of world kinship through the medium of the drama:

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram.

Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and exend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly.

Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white spaces remain uninterruptedly.

ALASKA NATIVE SCHOOL HEARS OAKLAND RADIO

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The Department of the Interior has established a school for the natives at Pilot Station, which is located on the Yukon river, about one hundred and fifty miles from the Bering Sea, in an effort to provide the same advantages now enjoyed by the school children in the States.

Located, as they are, almost within the Artic Circle, they suffer the hardships of extreme northern winters. Communication facilities are very poor, as can be imagined from the fact that it requires newspapers and letters from three to six months to get there.

INSTALLS RECEIVER

Miss Inez Moore, who teaches school during the day realizes the isolation of the school and had a long distance radio receiver installed for the purpose of keeping in touch with the outside world.

Miss Moore finds the radio very valuable in teaching the elementary principles of American history and politics. American political speakers over the radio influence her pupils to such a degree that she has no difficulty in holding their interest and she feels that they now have a better realization of the principles and ideals of American government.

OAKLAND IS HEARD

Each night, the Eskimaux crowd the little school room to enjoy the broadcast program. Besides political news, they have the best hotel orchestra, lectures and the latest news from the outside world. In spite of the distance and location, they listened to the play "Turn to the Right" broadcast from K. G. O., Oakland, California.

It is hard to realize how far this little school in the frozen north is from civilization, but some idea can be gleaned from the fact that it took six months for a letter from the Honorable P. A. Peters, and uncle of Miss Moore's to arrive, announcing his election to office of Secretary of the State of Idaho.

A meeting will be held this afternoon at room 13 of the Lincoln school by the Lincoln P. T. A. All mothers are urged to be present.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTERS THRIVE ON 6 CENT MEALS, $1.26 A WEEK WHILE THEY ARE ATTENDING COLLEGE

Mrs. Anna Diveley and her two daughters went all the way from Windfield, Kan., to become students at Boston University. "Ma" Diveley, an energetic gray-haired little woman figured that they would have to be very economical to get three college educations. One of her accomplishments has been planning nutritious and palatable meals that cost them only six cents for each person. That figure may not be record for low cost of living, but "Ma" Diveley, considers it an irreducible minimum. Left to right, above, are Ruth Anna Diveley, 15, "Ma" Diveley, and Mary Browning Diveley ,the other daughter. The mother is studying hard for a master's degree, having recived a B. S. in the early 80s from Washington College, Tennessee.

New Fur Farms in England Making Money for Women

(By Universal Service)

LONDON, Jan. 12.—"Fur farms" have recently been established in the north of England and Scotland. In Canada many of the 826 fur farms are successfully managed by women. The sale of pelts in 1923 increased by 41 per cent to $1,300,000.

New countries are being developed, causing fur-bearing animals to die out. Expensive furs are rapidly coming to be looked upon as an investment. These facts, combined with the enthusiastic way in which women took to the Paris decree that this was to be a "fur winter" explain why English interest in fur farming is so great at present.

Women have always understood the charm of furs; and the rearing of foxes in this country provided the present experimental farms succeed—may be extended into an industry absorbing a vast amount of capital.

Foxes are the animals "farmed" for furs. Silver fox, Arctic blue fox, and black fox are the chief breeds kept "under fence." Foxes though not these particular varieties—are native even in the southern counties. Imported "domestic" foxes of they more expensive varieties are found to thrive here, especially in the north. The climate is suitable, and the home grower has the advantage that London is the world's central market for pelts.

The prices realized by pelts in 1924 averaged $105. The highest price exceeded $500. A live fox can be bought for $150, though prices rule up to $1000 for proved "stud foxes."

No question of keeping the foxes in cages enters into fur farming. The pen which houses only one pair—is a huge place of 3,000 square feet. It is closely arranged with brush and boulders to imitate the natural hiding place of the fox.

Dog biscuits are the staple diet for foxes. The pair of foxes are left alone as much as possible, especially when the "family" is born. One woman alone enters the pen, and it is essential that it should be the same woman each time.

Selective breeding on fox farms is improving the quality of fox furs. This is a conclusive answer to those who thought that "farmed" furs would not sell. Farms have secured the highest prices ever realized for fox pelts.

The silver fox is the most in demand in London. Once the farm has been established, and the ground and climate proved to agree with the foxes, fox farming becomes an increasingly profitable undertaking.

A pair of foxes, once mated, are mated for life. They produce a number of youngsters, each one, when pared, worth $200 to $500. The "dog" fox makes a devoted husband, and will starve himself rather than see the vixen and the little ones go without.

FRENCH NAVY TO GET SEA PROGRAM

(By Universal Service)

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The rebirth of France as a first-class Naval Power will soon be an accomplished fact.

Greater activity now prevails in the dockyards and arsenals of the Republic than at any time during the past 20 years.

Native troops from North and West Africa have come to represent a heavy proportion of the French army war strength. The whole scheme of mobilization is based on the assumption that these colored levies will be available for service at the front, whenever an emergency threatens. But being stationed in Africa they must, of necessity, be brought to France by sea, and unless the water routes remained open the transports could not sail.

A further arresting fact is that the shipbuilding program adopted under the Poincare regime has been not only endosed, but amplified by the Herriot Government. For the first time in many years a systematic and progressive plan of naval construction is being adhered to.

An Ambitious Program

The Navy Law of April, 1922, covered a period of ten years, during which the following new ships were to be built; 3 cruisers of 8,000 tons, 6 cruisers of 10,000 tons, 21 superdestroyers of 2,360 tons, 36 destroyers, 51 submarines, and one aircraft carie, besides aux liay craft. All these vessels are to be completed not later than 1931.

So far, at any rate, the work has been carried out strictly according to pogram. Vessels actually building include 5 cuisers, 24 destroyers, and 23 submarines. Many more are to be laid down in the coming year.

In the meantime, however, a more ambitious scheme is taking shape. The preamble to the Navy Estimates for 1925, foreshadows the methodical expansion of the fleet over a period of 20 years.

112 New Submarines

It is proposed to have 178,000 tons of battleships, 360,000 tons of light surface vessels, i. e., cruisers and destroyers, 90,000 tons of submarines, and 150,000 tons of auxiliaries, including aircraft-cariers and mine layers. What relation these figures bear to the aggegate tonnage already building is not made clean, but it may be pointed out that a submarine total of 90,000 tons would comprise 112 boats, with the high average displacement of 800 tons.

Concurrently with this rapid multiplication of ships, a reorganiztion of the personnel and the dockyards is proceeding. The coast defences have been greatly improved since the war, some of the longest-range guns in the world now being mounted in shore batteries.

France, in short, has definitely entered upon a new era of naval development.

Girl Suffers From Nervous Breakdown

Miss Emma Meyer, sister to Miss Matilda Meyer, is reported seriously ill at her home, suffering from nervous breakdown. The condition of the little girl is such that a change of climate may be necessary for complete restoration of health.

Little Miss Meyer is a proficient pianist and her ability as a dancer was shown by the acts she appeared in at the Elk's show in December. She was to have taken part in the bathing girls' review, but it was necessary to have Miss Virginia Campbell take her place.

McCORMICK AND BORI, SINGING OVER THE RADIO FOR FIRST TIME, ENTERTAIN AUDIENCE OF EIGHT MILLIONS

This photograph taken at a New York broadcasting station, shows (left to right) Lucrezia Bori, Miss McCormick and her father, John McCormick, the Irish tenor. The voices of McCormick and Bori had just been broadcast to 8,000,000 radio listeners, thus ushering in a new era in radio broadcasting that raised the question whether there will have to be a readjustment of the economic forces which compete in entertaining the public.

GERMANY TO GET S. A. CONTRACTS

(By Universal Service)

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Considerable excitement has been caused in industrial circles by the announcement that the South African Government are negotiating with German steel producers for the development of the industry here.

It is said to be on authoritative source that the present German proposals which have been accepted by the government are no better than a previously rejected British offer. The government are not only offering liberal financial concessions to the Germans, but are prepared to guarantee the interest on debentures for a fixed period and will also guarantee to place all government orders with the concern and to protect the industry either by tariffs or subsidies.

$5,963,000 Capital

The capital of the new concern will exceed $5,000,000. Nominally the concern will be Dutch, Belgian and German, but it is believed that Dutch and Belgian names will only be included for the sake of appearances.

This complete reversal of the policy of General Smuts's Government is announced by the "Cape Argus" which states that a similar offer made to Messrs. Armstrong Whitworth and Co., and Messrs. Vickers has been turned down.

The British Trade Commissioner here does not think that the German industrialists are in a position to offer better terms than British firms. He points out that Messrs. Vickers have secured a contract worth £2,000,000 for the erection of a new electrical power station at Witbank, and this in open competition with the world.

It is understood that the center of the new steel industry will be Pretoria, where the South African Iron and Steel Industry, Ltd., already has its headquarters.

The African Premier

General Hertzog is a man of wide attainment and charming personality. That is one side of his character.

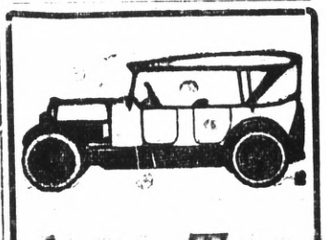

The other side was thus described by "One who knows him":

"He is a fanatic perfectly sane on all subjects but one. He is the reincarnated spirit of the bigoted, ignorant narrow-minded Boer of the Blackveld.

"The Empire is nothing to him; the Boer is everything. His fanaticism is purely racial, and so intense that he would cheerfully sacrifice the whole future of his country to Boerdom unsullied and intact."

Undoubtedly his desire is to see South Africa a republic. He was one of the "bitter-enders" in the Boer war.

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

High School Has Crowded Physical Education Dept.

There are 202 students registered for physical education department at Richmond Union high school according to the announcement of Major Ivan Hill, physical instructor and coach of athletics.

Hill says that this is the largest enrollment in the history of the school. Conditions are not adequate to handle so many students, without warking a hard hip, Hill says. The classes are very large, one having as many as 81 students enrolled.

The enrollment for the past few years has shown a steady increase, and gradually every student is deriving much benefit from the physical exercise. It is Hill's aim to have every student in school who is physically fit taken up some form of athletics, not for the purpose of making any school team, but for the good that will be derived from it. Also in this way material for the school team will be uncovered, Hill believes.

Besides handling the physical education classes, Hill has charge of the school cadet corp.

Mrs. Cook was Miss Christion Dickerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dickerson of this city, prior to her marriage, while the father is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cook, also of this city.

Many Athletes Answer Call At Union Hi School

Approximately 150 athletes have answered the call for the track, baseball and basketball team of the Richmond Union high school, according to Coach Hill. Fifty men have signed up for track; 40 for baseball and 60 for basketball.

Every afternoon one may see the perspiring aspirants for honors hard at work on the high school field. Practically a new track team will have to be built up, according to Hill. The epidemic of the foot and mouth disease halted activities last year with the result that no clear line can be drawn upon this year's prospects.

However, Hill is hoping for the best. Among those who are showing up well in practice are Charley Burch, shot put, discus; Porky Bostrom, the weight events; Chuck Sneider, Bunny Muth and Vernon Siple, in the pole vault and high jump; Drennan Cryan and Bunny Muth in the high and low hurdles.

These men have been showing up exceptionally well, Hill says. Muth has been doing around 10 feet and six inches in the pole vault, and Siple has been going over five feet in the high jump regularly.

Turner, a high jumper from the Junior high school, has been doing well and gives promise of developing into a winner with a little more training.

Hill will divide the track team into squads within a few days, and place them in charge of the experienced men who will coach the beginners. At the present time the men are taking it easy, and gradually rounding into condition for the hard work that is to come.

Last night the baseball squad reported for their first practice, which consisted largely of throwing the ball around and some batting practice.

It is expected that a strong nine will be developed this year, as there are many veterans left. The battery will probably consist of Muth, catcher, and Gualdini, pitcher. There will be four veterans in the infield and two in the outfield. And there is much good material on hand to fill up the positions left vacant by graduation.

Permits Granted For Pool Rooms

Application of James Bassigini for a permit to conduct a pool room at 520 Pullman avenue was granted by the city council last night. Councilwoman Mrs. Ogborn said she had investigated the proposition and found it was a place where working men congregated and she believed the permit should be granted.

Application of O. Maghetti for permit to conduct a pool room and soft drink stand at 112 Railroad avenue was granted by the city council.

Application of John Rossi for a permit to conduct a soft drink in a fruit store at 304 Macdonald avenue was granted.

To Give City Shares of Gas Tax is Plan

The meeting of the Legislative committee of California municipalities in California municipalities to hold in Fresno on Saturday last, was attended by City Attorney P. J. Hall. A proposition to divide a portion of the gasoline tax so that a part of it would go to the city instead of going to the state and county as now.

At the present time approximately fifty percent of the tax goes to the state and a like amount to the county. It is planned to have the city share in with the county on the tax, on a road valuation basis.

Other matters affecting the municipalities were discussed at the meeting.

The afternoon program is scheduled to start promptly at 2:30 o'clock and the evening events will start at approximately 8 o'clock. Junior High to Play Basketball

Prospects for a winning basketball team at the Junior high school look good, according to G. D. Miner, coach of the 110, 120 pound teams and of the unlimited squad of the school.

More than 40 men have reported for the three teams, and many good players are in the making, Miner believes. So far the men who have been showing up well for the unlimited squad are De Lucca, Marriola, Grey, Zemi, Baumgartner, Frazier, and Alano.

These men are fast and show much talent and ability, Coach Miner is teaching them the eastern style of play and plans to fox the opposition with some new formations.

On Wednesday afternoon, the Junior high school unlimited team will play the 130 pound basketball team of the high school, at the Junior high gym.

On this Friday, the weight teams and the unlimited squad from the Garfield Junior high school will play the JuJunior high teams here.

Richmond Police To Drill Saturday

On Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the annual drill and inspection of the Richmond police department will be held, according to the plans announced yesterday by Police Chief Dan Cox. It is the intention of Chief Cox to invite all city officials to review the men of the department in their drill. All the men who can be relieved from duty will take part.

Injured Man Is Brought Home Here

O. E. Baar and Henry Martin of the city motored to the hospital at Hollister on Sunday afternoon, and returned with William H. Smith, who was injured in an automomible accident in December and has been in the hospital since that time. Smith will remain with his wife, who was also injured in the accident, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Gallagher on Chanslor avenue.

VACANT HOUSE ROBBED

A vacant house belonging to Don Lozigia, real estate man, at 926 Seventh street, was broken into and a new mattress taken last night. The house had been nicely furnished and has been vacant some time pending the finding of a renter.

'HAPPINESS' IS NEXT PICTURE AT M.E. CHURCH

Next Friday night at 7 p. m. the picture-play "Happiness" will be exhibited at the Wesley Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. C. G. Lindemann will beat the usual "big sing." It is a remarkably fine program. A silver offering is the only thing necessary to see this big production.

The distinguished American comedienne, Laurette Tayler, who scored such a success in her first motion picture, "Peg O' My Heart," will be at the Wesley M. E. church Friday night in her second Metro production, "Happiness."

According to all advance reports, "Happiness" even outdoes "Peg" in its sure appeal, its delightful comedy and variety of entertainment, which is saying a very great deal. Miss Tayler, now thoroughly at home on the screen, has far eclipsed her work in the earlier picture and jumps to the front in "Happiness" as the leading comedienne of the screen as well as the stage.

MACDONALD CONTRACT AWARD

Awarding of the contract for the improvement of Macdonald avenue from Twenty-third street to San Pablo avenue, was granted to the National Paving company, as the low bidder by the city council last night by the vote of 6 to 3. There was some question as to whether bitulithic or Warrenite paving should be used.

SPECIAL CHOIR PRACTICE AT WESLEY CHURCH THURS.

Special choir practice will be held in the Wesley M. E. church on Thursday night, at 7:30 o'clock, for the "Dawn of Christmas," the big cantata, which was given during the holidays, and for which many requests have been received, asking for another performance.

AUTO TRAILER STOLEN

An automobile trailer belonging to Dwight Howard was stolen at 862 Tenth street last night when the car and trailer were parked and left alone for a short time. No trace of the thieves has been reported to the police department as yet.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT REPORT

The city health department thru Dr. Charles R. Blake reported to the city council last night for the month of December as follows: Births, 37; males, 20; females, 17. This is compared with births of former years: 1923, twenty-four; 1922, eighteen; 1921, twenty-nine.

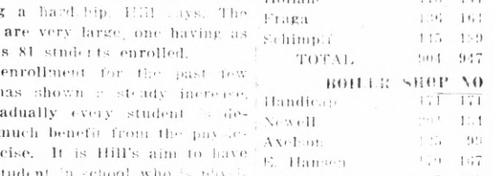

Deaths reported in December were 18; male 11, female 7. Coroner cases 4. Laboratory expenses $224.

If Hair Is Turning Gray, Use Sage Tea

That beautiful, even shade of dark glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage tea, and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enchances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

WORK ON WATER COMPANY'S DAM GIVES PROGRESS

Erection of the main dam in the $3,000,000 Upper San Leandro project is under way with the beginning of sluicing operations by the East Bay Water company, according to George H. Wilhelm, vice-president, general manager and chief engineer, today. Completion of the diversion dam and early rains provided more than sufficient water for hydraulic operations.

The dam will be 185 feet high, 656 feet long at the top with a crest width of 75 feet and a base width of 1150 feet. It will contain about 1,260,000 cubic yards of material. The entire project includes the dam, a reservoir six miles long, diversion tunnel with outlet tower, supply tunnel running beneath the East Oakland hills, a filter plant and pipe lines. The reservoir will have a capacity of 16,000,000,000 gallons.

WORK STARTED LAST YEAR

Work on the project started early last year and the diversion dam and diversio ntunnel with outlet tower have been completed. The damsite was cleared, and trees and brush removed from a portion of the reservoir bottom. The supply tunnel is partially completed and acontrol tower has been erected for the diversion tunnel at the dam. Excavations for the filter plant have been completed.

During the present year, the lining of the yardage in the main dam will be placed and the open spillway and the supply tunnel completed. Work on the filtration plant and transmission conduits will be started this year and will be completed early next year.

TUNNEL IS BEING BORED

The supply tunnel is being bored from the reservoir directly through the East Oakland hills to the distribution system of the water company.

The inlet of the tunnel is located in Redwood Creek more than two miles above the dam and three-quarters of a mile above the Redwood district school at the junction of Redwood and Moraga roads. The outlet will be near the Sequoyah County Club. The tunnel is 7155 feet long, about 1 1-2 miles. It has a capacity of 100 million gallons of water daily.

TO BUILD FILTER PLANT

The filter plant will be of the modern rapid sand type with a capacity of 12,000,000 gallons daily. The plant will consist of an aerator, mixing channels, sedimentation basins, filters and clean water reservoir.

The dam is an earthern structure which is being built by the hydraulic process from materials near the damsite. This type of dam is not seriously affected by earthquakes, involves a less expenditure of money to construct than any other suggested type and fully meets all requirements, according to engineers.

TO IMPROVE BIG SUPPLY

Development of the Upper San Leandro project will make available 12,000,000 gallons of water daily at an elevation of approximately 100 feet. This high elevation permits a great distribution of water by gravity, eliminating much pumping expense.

The dam and reservoir are located approximately 6 miles upstream from Lake Chabot and 7 1-2 miles north of Hayward on the Hayward-Moraga road, and are about 15 miles southeast of Oakland.

Ellis Dock Co. Protests Sewer At Inner Canal

A letter from Attorney L. B. Robinson, representing the Ellis Landing and Dock company, located on the inner harbor of Richmond, was read to the city council last night, protesting against the dumping of sewer refuse into the inner channel.

The matter was referred to the city manager, the city engineer and the city attorney for a period of two weeks to be entirely cleared up and straightened out and reported back to the city council.

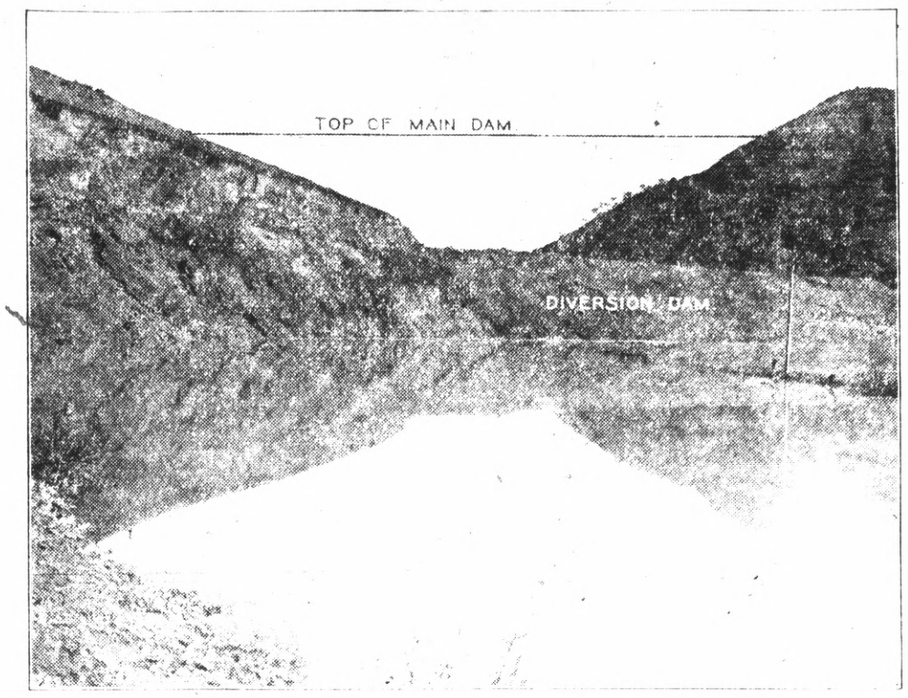

Attorney Robinson requested on behalf of the company that the sewer be removed so that it would not drain into the Ellis canal and that the city remove the sediment he claimed had already collected there.

He said the United States Geodetic survey showed the canal was 27 feet deep in 1922 and only 7 to 9 feet deep at the present time. City Manager McVittie declared that the survey showed that only one sounding in the canal was 27 feet deep and was surrounded by shoal water.

McVittie said the city could extend the sewer 80 feet and pass it over the company's property and locate it on city property.

This he believed, would cost $800 to $1000.

MUNICIPALLY OWNED WATER RATES LOWER

Only twenty-seven cities out of 234 in America, recently surveyed by the American Water Works Association, have a higher water rate than the East Bay cities it is shown by information reaching the East Bay Municipal Utility District in its national study of municipal ownership of water, it was announced yesterday. The rate of the East Bay cities for small consumers, thirty and two-thirds cents per thousand gallons, is considerably above the average rate for all of the 234 cities shown by the American Water Works survey.

The average flat rate in the 234 cities is $1.71 per month, and the meter rate for small users is twenty-three and eight-tenths cents per month. Larger users, such as office buildings, hotels, factories, hospitals, etc., pay an average of twelve cents per thousand gallons, where the East Bay cities pay twenty-seven cents. Still larger consumers, such as packing houses and railroads, pay an average of ten cents per thousand gallons throughout the 234 cities, while in the East Bay cities the rate for the same class of service is twenty-five cents per thousand gallons. All figures are from the American Water Works Association.

Public Owns Many Plants

The survey of the 234 cities includes both privately and municipally owned plants and the survey brings out the fact that 169 communities out of the 234 own and operate their own water supply. In the announcement made at the Utility District headquarters it was stated that a nation-wide study of municipal ownership is being made that the public may know that communities everywhere are successfully handling this important public utility and in most cases are reducing their water rates as a result.

Many of the cities which enjoy a low water rate obtain their supply near at hand. Nevertheless, it was pointed out, it is possible to bring the water from a considerable distance and still enjoy a rate far below that of the East Bay cities. Los Angeles conveys its water 250 miles from the Owens river and retails it to small consumers at thirteen and one-third cents; to million gallon consumers at nine cents, and to the largest factory users at six cents. Water for the East Bay cities has always been gathered from local water sheds within a few miles of the consumers. After the Mokelumne River project has been constructed, the water will be brought from a distance of ninety miles.

Rates Can Be Lowered

"It may not be," said the Utility District statement, "that the East Bay Municipal Utility District will be able immediately to make a sharp reduction in our local water rate. There is no doubt but that our present high rate can be reduced. We desire to point out that other communities have made a success of handling their water problem and the public will remember that sooner or later the question of taking over the properties of the East Bay Water Company or constructing a separate system will be placed before the voters for decision. We wish to say that municipal ownership, far from being new or revolutionary, is a tried and true plan in public affairs. The success which has attended it in other American communities leads us to the conclusion that the plan will work well here. Passing the $39,000,000 Mokelumne water bonds was only the first step toward our goal. We must own a local distribution plant before we will be in the water business for ourselves."

Milk Ordinance Adopted By City; Inspecctor Named

The Richmond city milk ordinance was given its second reading at the city council last night and ordered adopted to become effective January 16th. Natatorium Plans To Be Reported on Next Monday Night

Plans and specifications for the Richmond municipal natatorium, or bath-house, will be examined and passed on by the state board of health at their meeting in Berkeley next Saturday, according to word received by the city council from the University last night through City Manager A. J. McVittie.

The plans have already been approved by the University board and will be reported back to the city council at their next meeting to be adopted, it was stated.

A communication was received by the city council from J. H. Murphy, only person living upon the proposed site of the natatorium, in which it was stated that he could not remove his house from the property because he had no money.

Murphy has erected his own board house on the site and the past summer raised a vegetable garden there. The city council granted him a release, last night, to the effect that he might dispose of his house in any way that he saw fit, and that no claim would be held against him by the city, providing the building is removed.

It was pointed out that under the release, Murphy may sell, or tear down the house, or whatever disposition he can make of it.
